Scientific Committee and other participating academic institutions will be confirmed soon.

The issue of the Workshop is one of the greatest importance in every Continent; it reaches the highest urgency in many countries, especially in developing countries, not only but notably in Africa, as for the aim and scope of our UNESCO Chair. In this general frame the Workshop will concentrate its attention onto the “Miami aquatic future” intended as the subject for probing the possible Sea-level-rise adaptive strategies of a modern multifunctional and multicultural metropolis. In fact, in Miami the variety, the extension and the complexity of the relations between the human settlements and the water environments form the most valuable and suitable World Field-Laboratory for studying in one integrated Workshop the full palette of problems that can be found with lesser density, but not greater intensity, in many other coastal or lagoon zone of our Planet. The specific problems that can be fruitfully investigated in the Miami area represent the most significant examples of the worldwide problems of sea level rise and of its related effects cast onto urban structures (financial centres, tourist settlements, leisure centres etc.) and infrastructures (hydraulic, vehicular, energy production plants including atomic energy production, etc.). Therefore the expected outcomes of the Workshop will be useful to better define general strategies of:

Adaptation of the existing settlement and productive systems.

Protection and defence of historical places and natural singularities. Substitution of urban, functional and residential typologies.

Retreat and environmental migration to safer territories and urban locations.

For info regarding the Organization: Prof. Anna Del Monaco (anna.delmonaco@uniroma1.it). The registration fee: 450 Euro; the registration form can be requested to the Department of Architecture and Design administration (Sapienza), dott. Attilia De Rose (attilia.derose@uniroma1.it). The Workshop Programme includes: 3 nights in NY - 28, 29 Feb, 1 March; 4 nights in Miami – 2, 3, 4, 5 March; 6 nights in Gainesville – 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 March. Costs (estimated by a Travel Agency suggested by University of Florida and selected the best options available) are listed in the following pages. The participants could chose other hotels but should respect the programme listed above. The flight cost is approximated (probably over estimated but it balances bus/metro/tickets costs): different companies have different prices. We will communicate soon the flight schedule of professors and tutors and participants can freely buy their tickets on a travel agency and on the Web.
